

Contents

Introductions

Tomasz Mizerkiewicz, Drugie opisanie świata – z chińskiej, środkowoeuropejskiej i bałkańskiej perspektywy (The Second Description of the World – from the Chinese, Central European and Balkan Perspectives)	7
Zhang Hui, 前言 (Between the Silk and the Amber)	11

From the perspective of teaching

Agnieszka Jasińska, Polish Studies in China Yesterday and Today – Tradition and New Challenges as Experienced by a Teacher of Polish as a Foreign Language	17
Anna Rabczuk, “Have You Eaten?” A Few Comments about Polish-Chinese Cultural Differences Written in Language	25
Jagna Malejka, Cultural Differences and Teaching Polish Language as a Foreign Language to Chinese Students	37
Małgorzata Zduniak-Wiktorowicz, A Didactic Approach to the “Otherness” of Chinese Students in Poland and Germany. Teaching Polish as a Foreign Language and Intercultural German Studies	45
Magdalena Gimbut, Artur Rega, Ruan Zheng, How to Facilitate the Cultural and Educational Exchange between Polish and Chinese Universities? The Case Study of Zhejiang University Ningbo Institute of Technology and its Polish Partners	55

From the perspective of literature

Rafał Dymczyk, Yinhui Mao, Michał Boym SI and His Contribution to the Process of Understanding Chinese Culture	69
Anna Kołos, Writing in the Open Space. Polish Sailors in China between the End of the 19th Century and the Outbreak of World War II	81
Tomasz Ewertowski, How Travellers Related Stories about China. A Typology of Narrative Voices in Polish and Serbian Travel Writings	95
Krystyna Pieniżek-Marković, Garden Space and City Space. Chinese “Locus Amoenus” and “Inferno” in the Accounts of the Croatian Traveller Hrvoje Grgurić (1931)	111
Krzysztof Skibski, Verse Condensation of Language (about the Analysis of the Translation of Contemporary Chinese Poetry)	125
Paweł Zacharewicz, Czesław Miłosz’s Fascination with the East. Ontology of Cognition in East and West – Essential Differences	135

Tomasz Mizerkiewicz, “The Most Important Dialogue of my Existence”. Polish-Chinese Encounters in the Canon of Polish Modern Literature 149

From the perspective of business

Ernest Pempere, Goods on the Silk Road – from Relay to Sprint 161
Gu Hongfei, Chen Siyang, China-Poland Economic Cooperation in a Changing World: Achievements and Prospects 171
Lu Wenjuan, Role of Economic and Trade Cooperation Zone in Sino-Hungarian Relations 195
Index 211